

ABSTRACT

An inner-burn aroma lamp mainly includes a perfume essence cup overlapped on the upper part of a lamp pot, whereas at the center thereof the perfume essence cup having a center tube while on the top end of the center tube perforated through by a lamp wick frame which is traversed by a lamp wick extended perpendicularly to the bottom of the lamp pot. Accordingly, the lamp oil is filled into the lamp pot, and perfume essence is filled into perfume essence cup so that the lamp wick could siphon the burning oil and heat the perfume essence cup. Therefore the air near the perfume cup is warmed so as to vaporize the perfume essence in the perfume essence cup.